THE TRAVELING MEN MEET.

The Wichita Traveling Men's Association Organized-Election of Officers and Object

For some time the traveling men repreenting Wichita wholesale houses have contemplated forming an organization for the purpose of benefitting themselves and the Wichita trade. There are over 100 active young men who go out from Wichita concerns. It was thought to be bene ficial to form an organization and could work for each other in many ways. customer wanting anything in any line represented at Wichita could be informed of the fact, and in addition the men repre senting such houses could also be notified. This was generally conceded to be a good plan, working to the advantage of all concerned, and hence a meeting was called for the parlors of the Carey Sunday afternoon. There were present over fifty of the Wichita force and form an organization to be known as the H. McCreery, John Roeder and Miss Lena Wichita Traveling Mens' association.

as above given. It appeared that the Board of Education had received a communication from J. D. Smead & Co. agreeing, for a stipulated price, to place their heating apparatus in the College Hill building, the same as in other 4-room buildings in the city, but charging $55 extra for certain brick and carpenter work, agreed to wait one for their pay, without interest. When the contractor on the building came to said work he wanted $144 for the work. Hence the committee on heating and ventilation being out of the city, the work of placing the furnaces was stopped until last regular meeting of the board the matter was referred to the committee on ways and means. The said committee on ways and means brough its chairman, Mr. Clapp, reported, mending that Smead & Co. be allowed the regular price agreed upon ($1,000) for placing their apparatus in Colleg Hill building as per order of the board July 7, 1890, and no extras. After usiderable discussion it was moved to amend by dividing the extra cost (which was to be reduced to $107) and each pay one-half, viz. Smead & Co. $53.50 and the oard $53.5%. A motion to amend the endmend by including the pavement of cold air rooms was made and corried. The original motion as amended was then carried by a call vote. Board then adjourned.

A GOOD WORD FOR WICHITA.

The following highly appreciated com-pliment to the Peerless Princess is from the facile faber of Hon. W. E. Bolton, editor of the Kiowa County Signal whose conception of a good thing and whose riends in the city yesterday.

An Unvarnished Recital of the Adventures of a Fall River Urchin.

A boy with a wonderful capacity for cold vater made a kind of Noah's ark time of it for people who dwell around the South There is a tall standpipe near the park, where the sprinkling carts and the pressure from the pond at that point is something like a million pounds to the square inch. Just what possessed the aforesaid boy to climb that standpipe while the band was playing gayly in the band stand will probably never be known.

Possibly he had found life too slow at he drinking fountain, and it may be he didn't think that he could do the stand-pipe any harm. At any rate he shinned up and began monkeying with the cap at the top. A full grown man with cold steel appliances would undoubtedly have ex-perienced considerable difficulty in unfastening that cap, but the foot high urchin found it easy enough. His accomplishment will surprise him to the end of his days. He was bending directly ever the pipe, stomach down, when the last thread of the cap screw was loosened. There was a swish and a roar, and the nillion pound pressure sent a volume of water a thousand feet into the air. rould have been a magnificent spectacle but for one feature which froze the blood in the veins of the assembled multitude.

As far as the eye could reach, and almost at the very top of the tower of water, a tiny speck slowly revolved. It was the small boy, hadpless, and feebly waving his hands and feet in his terror.

Fortunately the tremendous force supported him, and the centrifugal power con-vexing toward the sides of the torrent kept him in the middle. It was wet work looking on, but for a few seconds nobody dared to move. Then a brave member of the police department recovered his presence of mind and darted to the Park house telephone. A little later Superintendent Kieran, of the water works, arrived on the scene, pale but determined.

The same thought seemed to inspire the crowd at the same moment, for 500 voices exclaimed: "You must let him down easy!" Superintendent Kieran needed no such warning. He knew that to shut off the supply suddenly meant a terrible fall for the half drowned lad, who had ceased to move up there among the stars, and with a touch as light as a woman's he began to turn back the swift tide in the main artery. whispers. Finally a joyous cheer rangout. The urchin was thirty feet from the ground and scores of arms were outstretched to re-ceive him. "Stand steady!" was the order and the last spoonful of water was turned off, and the boy dropped safely into the network of hands. "That beats balloons," he said, as he wiped his face with his drip-

To Preserve Flowers. An excellent authority gives the advice to plunge the stems of wilted and drooping flowers into hot water about one-third their length, taking care that the blossoms are untouched. This process drives the 'sap" back into the flowers and causes them to revive in a short time, unless already hopelessly faded. Cut away the with ered portion of the stem before putting into salted water, or wet sand, which is better for the vases and dishes in which flowers are to be kept, because it will pre-serve them longer.—Jenness-Miller Maga-

Nomen on the Witness Stand.

A woman in the witness chair is a court of justice is a source of perplexity to a good lawyer. To the indifferent practitioner it makes little difference whether the witness a man or a woman. With equal perversity he pitches into everybody who appears against him, and often succeeds in prejudicing his client's cause. A shrewd attorney handles proof in petticoats very gingerly. When a pretty woman's name called in court she rustles to the stand, looks modest and out of place and kisses the Bible-the same boly book whose leath ern covers are incrusted with greate an oh have I got to expression, and then waits expectantly for the trouble to begin If she is trifling with the truth, and the lawyer knows it, he cannot browbest her as he would a man, but he must smile, behave courteously and dismiss her with a bow, otherwise the jury will fight against him in their deliberation room. If she is nomely and he cross-examines her too much and too truculently, she will brace perself and tell him more in a minute than he wants to know in a lifetime. The prettiest way for a lawyer to hand over a female witness to the body politicis by some such expression as That is all, my dear Miss," if she is over forty, or, "I have no further quest ons, madam," then with a sudden show of recollecting himseif, propound a question big with reand dollars to cents she will fall into the trap and hurs the side of the cause she was called to aid. An old practitioner says thus his invariable rule has been not to cross examine a woman to any extent - New
